

OPEN YOUR HEART

Michael was wet and cold when we found him. Due to the storms, his blankets and clothes all got drenched on the side of the road. He moved under a roof next to the furniture store to find shelter from the rain and keep himself warm. Major winter storms have led to flooding and power outages across Cape Town. The heavy rainfall creates hazardous situations for Cape Town's unsheltered community, who risk being caught by flash floods. These extreme weather conditions pose a great danger to Cape Town's vulnerable unsheltered. When we gave Michael the Shelterbag, he was very grateful. With a gentle smile on his face, he said in his mother tongue, "ekkosi kakhulu buti" meaning thank you, My Brother.

Michael can't remember how long he has been on the street and where his family is, yet he feels like he is not alone in his struggle.

Sheltersuit South Africa Foundation people helping people

Click this link to visit the Sheltersuit SA Foundation website.

Sheltersuit South Africa Foundation

To see how the shelterbag protects people by keeping them warm, safe and dry please watch this video:

<https://www.youtube.com/shorts/OHfDto-tPYY>

For more information feel free to contact

LYN RENDER

Lyn@sheltersuit.com

- ❖ We manufacture the shelterbag to create warmth, dignity and support for people that are vulnerable and homeless in society
- ❖ We give hope to people who seek skills development and training, giving empowerment to those previously unemployed
- ❖ We support economic growth and development in South Africa by purchasing all our material from local suppliers